PHILADELPHIA STRIKE ENDED

Men Return to Work After Being Out a Week.

TWENTY-TWO CENTS AN HOUR

Street Car Company Employees Agree to Accept That Pay—Ten Tours Will Constitute a Day's Work—All Future Differences to Be Adjusted Between the Company and a Grievance Committee Chosen by the Employees.

Philadelphia, June 5.—The strike has been settled. The men will receive 22 cents an hour beginning this morning and ten hours will constitute a day's work.

This statement emanating from C. O. Pratt, chairman of the executive committee of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees, the leader of the striking motormen and conductors, followed by the deportation of the 450 strikebreakers who came here from New York, ends the strike of the employees of the Philadelphia Transit company. The strike began one week ago this morning. The termination of the trouble between the company and its employees was brought about primarily by state Senator James P. McNichol, the Republican leader of this city. Delegates chosen by the strikers met Chairman Pratt and discussed the proposition which had been made by the traction people.

After being in session nearly all day, the men agreed to accept 22 cents an hour. The old "swing system" has been abolished; ten hours will constitute a day's work; all employees will be permitted to purchase their uniforms in the open market; all future differences are to be adjusted between the company and a grievance committee chosen by the employees. If, after an investigation by the city controller of the books of the company, it can be shown that more than 22 cents an hour can be paid without crippling the finances of the Rapid Transit company, then the men will insist upon a further advance in wages.

A sub-committee of employees met and ratified the agreement with the company. The elevated men are also to receive an increase of 1 cent an hour.

No effort was made to run cars after dusk. The saloons were closed at 6 o'clock, but there were several incipient riots in the evening in which the strikebreakers were forced to abandon their cars.

The strike has been the most complete tie-up ever experienced by local trolley companies.

The employees of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company voted to accept the proposition made by the company, which had been submitted to them by the sub-committee appointed to confer with the traction officials.

Fourteen barns voted to accept the terms offered by the company and four against, with one to be heard from. The total vote is 3,256 for, to 619 against.

Wasteful.

"It's too bad," said little Bessie, "that there isn't another little Peters boy."

"They have six," said her mother.

"I should consider that about enough."

"Well," said the little girl, "they can all take each other's clothes as they grow up, but there isn't any one to take little Johnnie's, and it seems kind of wasteful."

NEW ISSUE IN CALHOUN TRIAL

Introduced by Assistant District Attorney Henzy.

TO MANUFACTURE EVIDENCE

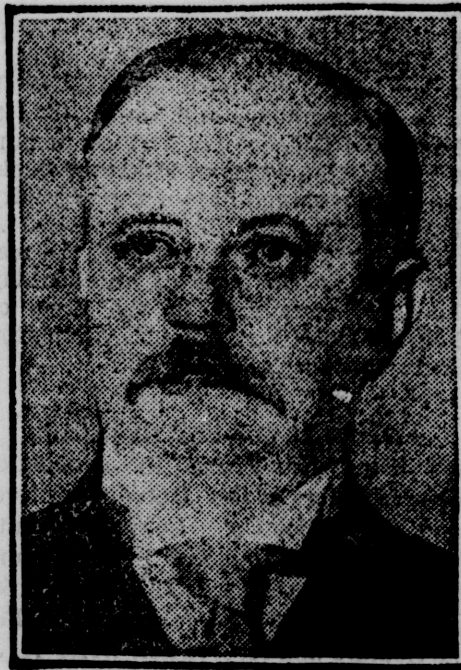

Prosecutor Charges That the Defendant in Bribery Case at San Francisco Was a Party to a Plot—Testimony of Samuel F. Scott Opens Up One of the Bitterest Controversies of the Long Trial.

San Francisco, June 5.—Charging that Patrick Calhoun was a party to a plot to manufacture evidence favorable to officials of the United Railroads, Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Henzy introduced a new issue into the Calhoun bribery trial.

Samuel F. Scott, successively employed in confidential positions by the United Railroads, the Southern Pacific railway and W. J. Burns, agent of the prosecution, was the witness making the charge. His testimony opened up one of the bitterest controversies of the long trial.

Scott, who admitted that he had become an agent of the prosecution since the trial commenced, said he had been approached by Joseph H. Handlon, claims agent of the United Railroads, in 1907, and requested to repeat before Mr. Calhoun a story manufactured by Handlon.

Scott said Handlon asked him to tell Calhoun that he (Scott) had once been in the employ of Burns; that he had accompanied Rudolph Spreckels and Francis J. Henzy in an automobile ride to a house, the location of which was not defined, and that Mr. Spreckels had watched through a transom the conduct of two men who entered an adjoining room. The witness said he had been asked to tell Mr. Calhoun that Mr. Spreckels had subsequently joined the two men and departed with them.

Stanley Moore, an attorney for the defense, who conducted the cross-examination of Scott, admitted that the story of the witness was no surprise to the defense, but insinuated, by his questions, that Scott had originated the narrative and tried in vain to sell it to the defense, after which he entered the employ of the prosecution.

Mr. Henzy, in replying to objections from the defense, declared that the testimony showed a deliberate attempt to fabricate evidence tending to discredit the trapping of one of the supervisors and to make it appear that the trapping was a "fake."

Alexander S. King of Atlanta, Ga., of counsel for Calhoun, characterized the whole matter as "a midsummer madness."

GIRL AND ESCORT PERISH

Boat Overturns in Spiritwood Lake Near Jamestown, N. D.

Jamestown, N. D., June 5.—Miss Laura Linnas and Fritz Falk, two well known young people of Buchanan, were drowned in Spiritwood lake, fifteen miles northeast of here. The young people made the trip to the lake in an automobile for the purpose of visiting friends who were camping there and started off for a boat ride shortly after arriving.

The boat was found a few hours afterward half full of water, and with Falk's hat and check book in the bottom. It is surmised that the boat, which was of steel, became unmanageable, and that Falk endeavored to save the life of Miss Linnas. They were engaged to be married June 15, and both were prominent in social circles at Buchanan.

Sheriff Romer has organized a searching party to find the bodies.

STATE DEPARTMENT SPOILED ROMANCE

Prevented Marriage of American Woman and a Count.

Paris, June 5.—Miss Isabel Garwood, a white-haired New York woman, now a guest of the Continental hotel, is the heroine of the proposed marriage to prevent which the machinery of the state department at Washington was put in motion, and her story of the romance in which she is involved is rather remarkable.

The prospective bridegroom is Count Bettino di Mose Padua, once a resident of New York, whom Miss Garwood met in Egypt. The engagement of Miss Garwood to the count was announced April 16.

The intervention of the state department at Washington was obtained through Rev. John B. Quinn of the Church of the Ascension, Washington, at the instance of Miss Garwood's sister, Miss Francis A. Garwood of New York.

Miss Isabel Garwood says she regards the interference of her relatives in the matter as gratuitous.

The state department transmitted to Ambassador Reld at London and later to Ambassador White here the results of its investigation into the record of the count's life in New York and his antecedents in Italy, which were obtained by Baron Bayer des Planches, the Italian ambassador to the United States.

According to this information, the count is not an Italian nobleman, but an Austrian, who practiced medicine for several years in New York with his brother.

Upon the death of his brother, the information asserted, the count contracted a common law union with his sister-in-law; but he declared that seven years ago he effected a settlement with her and that she returned to Austria.

Miss Garwood says the marriage was broken off because the count had been informed that his sister-in-law claimed the bond between herself and the count had not been annulled. Miss Garwood says the count has gone to Italy to obtain proof of the settlement with the woman.

BOY KILLED ON THE STREET

Shot Dead by a Boy With Whom He Had Quarrelled.

Nashville, Tenn., June 5.—Shortly after 8 o'clock p. m. sixteen-year-old Edgar Serber was called from his home in West Nashville and killed in the street by fifteen-year-old Jesse McPherson. The slayer used a repeating shotgun and fired twice, blowing off the top of his victim's head. McPherson, who is the son of Elder Joseph McPherson, a minister of the Church of Christ, was arrested shortly after the tragedy and is now confined at the police station.

Talking of the tragedy, he admitted that he went to Serber's home to kill him, saying that Serber had talked about him.

Some weeks ago the boys engaged in a fight, during which Serber, it is said, used a buggy whip on McPherson. Since then each, it is said, had indulged in talk among companions about the other. Serber was sitting on the porch of his home talking to his aged father when McPherson summoned him to his death.

MARKED THEIR TRAIL
Two Brave Women Who Outwitted a Band of Indians.
One summer afternoon in 1776 Jemima Boone and two sisters named Callaway while boating on the Kentucky allowed their canoe to drift close to the opposite bank. Here, behind a bush, five Shawnee warriors were in hiding, and although the spot was not more than a quarter of a mile from Boonesborough, one of the Shawnees struck boldly cut into the water, seized the canoe and dragged it to shore with its screaming occupants.

Once in the power of the Indians, however, these youthful daughters of the wilderness betrayed a wonderful self possession and resourcefulness. They knew enough of Indian customs to realize that if their strength failed them and they should prove unequal to the long march to the Shawnee towns on the Ohio they would be slaughtered mercilessly. So they stifled sobs and calmly accompanied their captors without protest or struggle. At every opportunity, though, they secretly tore little pieces from their clothing and attached them to bushes on the trail. Nothing more was needed to inform Boone and his fellow settlers, who had quickly started in pursuit, that they were on the right track, and on the second day of the captivity they caught up with the Indians. A volley laid two Shawnees low, the rest fled, and by the close of another day the girls were safe in the arms of their thankful mothers.—H. Addington Bruce in Smith's Magazine.

GIFT OF LANGUAGE.
Advantages of the Man Who is Able to Talk Well.
There is no other one thing which enables us to make so good an impression, especially upon those who do not know us thoroughly, as the ability to converse well. A man who can talk well, who has the art of putting things in an attractive way, who can interest others immediately by his power of speech, has a very great advantage over one who may know more than he, but who cannot express himself with ease or eloquence.

You may be a good singer, a fine artist, you may have a great many accomplishments which people occasionally see or enjoy, you may have a very beautiful home and a lot of property which comparatively few people ever know about, but if you are a good converser every one you meet recognizes and appreciates your art. Everybody you converse with feels the influence of your skill and charm.

In other words, there is no accomplishment, no attainment, which you can use so constantly and effectively which will give so much pleasure to your friends as fine conversation. There is no doubt that the gift of language was intended to be a much greater accomplishment than the majority of us have ever made of it.—Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine.

"After all, this is a very wicked world," said the ready made philosopher.
"I gather from that remark," rejoined the precise person, "that you have not been compelled to figure much on railway or steamship fares."—Washington Star.

INDEPENDENTS TO BUILD RAILROAD

Imperial Steel Corporation with $3,000,000 Capital to Buck the Steel Trust

MAINLY ON CUYUNA RANGE

Will Operate Some on Messaba but Mainly on the Cuyuna Range it is Said

That the New Cuyuna Range Railroad may not be a Soo proposition after all, is possible according to the following from the Minneapolis Journal: "Independent iron operators who have organized the Imperial Steel corporation with capital of $3,000,000, are reported to have in contemplation the construction of ore-carrying railroads in northern Minnesota that will compete with the roads now owned by the United States Steel corporation. The principal independent companies that hold leases on state ore lands are the Jones & Laughlin Co. and the Shenango Furnace company of Pittsburg. The Republic Iron & Steel Co., of Chicago and New York, Pickands Mather & Co., Cleveland, the Cleveland Cliff and Pitt Iron & Steel Co. and M. A. Hanna & Co., Cleveland, and the New York State Steel company, New York. "The properties that these companies will develop are on the Messaba range to some extent, but mainly on the newer Cuyuna range. Rates of 80 cents on ore from the range to the lake shipping ports have been too high for profitable operation. The ore, it is said, could be carried at a profit for 60 cents, and this has led to the expectation that the independents, now that they have a corporation of their own embracing the land holdings, will build their own railroads to carry the ore to Duluth, Two Harbors, or some other loading point."

A Thrilling Rescue

How Bert R. Lean, of Cheney, Wash. was served from a frightful death is a story to thrill the world. "A hard cold," he writes, "brought on a desperate lung trouble that baffled an expert doctor here. Then I paid $10 to $15 a visit to a lung specialist in Spokane, who did not help me. Then I went to California, but without benefit. At last I used Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me and now I am as well as ever." For Lung Trouble, Bronchitis, Coughs, and colds, Asthma, Croup and Whooping Cough is supreme, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. P. Dunn. ttw

ROCKEFELLER TALKS GOLF

Says It is More Interesting Than the Financial Situation.

New York, June 5.—Saying that the financial situation is not half as interesting as golf, John D. Rockefeller returned here from Hot Springs, Va., where he took Mrs. Rockefeller five months ago for her health.

"We have had a splendid time," said Mr. Rockefeller, "and Mrs. Rockefeller is much better."

Mr. Rockefeller was asked if he cared to say anything regarding the financial situation. "What do I know about the financial situation?" he replied. "Why, finance can't be compared with golf. I hope some day to be able to play good golf. I have played a good deal of it in my life."

He spoke feelingly of the recent death of H. H. Rogers. "It is sad, very sad," he said.

The Scottish Conscience.

Of Sabbath breaking north of the Tweed there is the story of the Scot and his wheelbarrow, which has been fathered upon Sir Archibald Geikie.

Donald was hammering away at the bottom of his garden when his wife came to the door. "Mon," she said, "ye're making much clatter. What wull the neebors say?"

"Dom the neebors," said the busy one. "I maun get ma' barra mendit."

"Oh, but, Donal," it's vera wrang to work on Sawbath," expostulated the good wife. "Ye ought to use screws."

WOULD DRILL THE POOR FARM

P. B. Nettleton Suggests That Crow Wing County Should Drill its Property

MIGHT PAY ALL COUNTY DEBTS

Cites County in Indiana Which Paid all Debts and Furnish- ed Revenues From Oil

P. B. Nettleton, the well known Brainerd real estate man suggests that Crow Wing County should drill its poor farm for iron. There have been several valuable leases placed on surrounding property and several propositions have been made for the lease of the poor farm. Mr. Nettleton, however, believes that the county itself should drill the land and know exactly what is under it before disposing of it in any way. He believes it more than probable that if this is done the revenue from the farm will be sufficient to pay off the county's indebtedness and also furnish the revenues needed for the maintenance of the county organization. As a reason for his belief he cites a county in Indiana, which owned a farm in the oil district near Muncie. He states that the county bored for oil and made a find which brought in revenue sufficient to pay all the existing indebtedness of the county and more than maintain it, and he urges that the same thing might be done here. The expense would not be an added burden of any great amount when distributed upon the entire county and he believes that if the county knew just what ore it had, and what depth, it would be much easier to get a lease which would be advantageous to the county than if the party leasing had to take all the chances himself.

Grading on State Road No. 3 starting at the dam in the City of Brainerd and extending north for a distance of two miles.

Plans and specifications are on file at the county auditor's office and bids may be filed with him.

Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

PERILS OF EXPLORERS.

A Tragio Journey Across a Desert of Central Asia.

One of the most trying of the central Asian adventures of Sven Hedin, the Swedish explorer, was this: In February, 1895, Sven Hedin started eastward, exploring the country between the Kashgar and Yarkand rivers, proceeding in April to cross the Takla Makan desert, between the Yarkand and Khotan rivers. Never before had any known traveler attempted to exploit a course amid the eternal sea of shifting sand hills from river to river. The tale of that little, travel worn, bedraggled group, far beyond the last watering place, enveloped in dust, stumbling along through the dreary but agitated desert sea by crooks and roundabout ways, with desolation spread around and every trace of life departed, was a weird and pathetic one. "Not even a fly was to be heard in the air, not even a yellow leaf broke the monotony."

And ever at their head was the sturdy figure of the Swedish explorer, compass in hand, still enthusiastic, guiding them as best he could through the death shrouded wilderness. At length the camels had to eat their straw saddles, and the last of the bread was gone. Horrors followed. As men and camels dropped out of the line they were immediately enveloped in the whirling sand shroud and never seen again.

The end came on May 5, when Sven Hedin, crawling on all fours, dragged himself across the dry bed of the Khotan river. "All of a sudden a duck flew into the air and water splashed," he wrote. Two of his followers were all that survived, and it is doubtful whether even those two would have lived to tell the tale had not Sven Hedin carried back water for them in his boots.

Economical.

"The servant that works for me must be very economical," said the boarding house mistress to the applicant for work.

"O'm such a one, mum," promptly returned the applicant. "Indeed, me last mistress discharged me for bein' that way."

"For being economical?"

"Tis, wid me clothes. O! used to wear hers."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Black Patti Troubadours will make their appearance at the Brainerd opera house tonight.

This is the thirteenth annual or Trans-American and California tour. It has been pronounced by the New York critics as the greatest singing show of the year, and the public are going into ecstasy over it, and if the opening performance is any criterion of what is to follow the balance of the season, many of the theatres will be much too small to hold the crowds. Black Patti is to be seen and heard at her best, and Managers Voelkel and Nolan have surrounded her with the strongest support in years. "The Blackville Strollers" a master piece of comical situations, musical music, real comedy, embodying in it a touch of Weberfieldian situations, is the one big hit of the Troubadours and nightly applause bordering on a riot is the usual reception given this, the best of all the colored shows."

One of the events of the year in musical circles is always the entertainment given by the pupils of St. Cecilia's hall. That of this year will be the most pretentious yet given, the opera house having been secured for the occasion. The entertainment will be given Thursday evening, June 10th, and the program will be found elsewhere in this issue. All should make it a point to attend.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Stories of W. S. Gilbert.

When Sir Henry Irving and Edwin Booth were acting together in London at doubled prices, the story goes that Mr. Herman Vezin, meeting W. S. Gilbert in the street, asked him whether he had been to this quite exceptional show. "No," said Mr. Gilbert; "I have sometimes paid half a guinea to see one bad actor, but I will not pay a guinea to see two."

Mr. Beerbohm Tree was playing the part of Falstaff at the London Haymarket, and the indispensable stuffing made him perspire profusely. Mr. Gilbert, who was in the theater, went behind the scenes to see the actor, who may well have been expected to be concerned on the excellence of his impersonation. "How well your skin acts!" said Mr. Gilbert.—London Graphic.

Peter the Great as a Drinker.

There is preserved in the Bodleian library, Oxford, an innkeeper's bill for breakfast eaten in England by Peter the Great of Russia. The czar and his twenty companions managed to dispose of half a sheep, a quarter of lamb, ten pullets, twelve chickens, three quarts of brandy, six quarts of mulled wine, seven dozen of eggs, with salad in proportion. Peter was always a hard drinker. He would drink a pint of brandy and a bottle of sherry for his morning draft; after dinner he managed eight bottles of sack, "and so to the playhouse." But his favorite drink was hot pepper and brandy.

On emerging from the grand jury room Mr. Hill announced a change of policy regarding the investigation.

"I am a good citizen and am anxious to obey the laws and help such a body as the Spokane grand jury in its present investigations," he said. "The grand jury can have all the records of the Great Northern it wants. I shall wire to St. Paul calling a directors' meeting, that all the directors may be on hand when I arrive, and we will take up the matter."

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

Business Situation Presents Many Favorable Features.

New York, June 5.—Bradstreet's review of trade says all in all the business situation presents many favorable features, but there is still an underlying feeling of conservatism, and while less is heard of the influence of tariff changes on future trade, there is still apparent a disposition to await the outcome of present legislative action and a clearer view as to possible crop yields. Among the leading industries the activity in iron and steel is still a subject of interest and May business in finished lines is claimed to have surpassed the like month of any previous year and to have been superior in tonnage placed to any month for two years past. Wool is quieter, but no less strong. Leather prices are very strong, but shoes are not selling as heavily for fall as expected. There is rather more unrest visible in labor circles. The tie-up of lake commerce is not loosened. Building material is active at many points where construction is being pushed.

THE WORST FLOOD IN YEARS

It is the worst flood in years.

New York, June 5.—The New York to Bermuda ocean races under the auspices of the Atlantic Yacht club began today. The six sail-driven vessels started from the Sea Gate (L. THREE SESSIONS OF THE SENATE

Devoted to Consideration of Cotton Schedule.

LA FOLLETTE FINISHES SPEECH

Wisconsin Senator Concludes His Long Address Attacking Changes in the Dingley Tariff Rates—Also Replies to Charge of Shamming Made by Mr. Penrose—Senator Aldrich Answers Mr. La Follette's Attack Upon Finance Committee.

Washington, June 5.—Through forenoon, afternoon and evening sessions the senate labored on the cotton schedule. Mr. La Follette completed his long speech attacking the changes in the Dingley rates which were recommended by the senate finance committee and replied to Senator Penrose's charge Thursday night that he was shamming sickness as an excuse for his absence from the night session. He said he was not sick, but was very tired and was resting in order to be in shape to continue his speech in the senate. He asserted that Mr. Penrose might perform a greater service for the country and his state if he would account for his own time when not in the senate. At the night session Chairman Aldrich replied to Mr. La Follette's assaults upon the work of the finance committee and made a general defense of amendments, which he asserted were necessary to carry out the intent of the framers of the Dingley law.

Throughout the entire day the temperature in the chamber was sweltering. When the night session opened Senator Aldrich told the senators present that he proposed to make a statement explaining the finance committee's amendments "and to correct any misapprehension that may have been instilled in their minds by a torrent of misinformation and misrepresentation."

Senator Aldrich earnestly defended the specific duties on cotton goods which his bill substitutes for the ad valorem duty of the Dingley law. Speaking in general defense of his bill, the senator declared that it contained no increase of duty to any measurable extent. "One of the chief purposes of the measure," he said, "is to straighten out the mistakes which naturally occurred in the framing of the Dingley bill."

Senator Aldrich declared that no protest had come as yet from the workmen against the bill that the senate is framing. It is only the manufacturer, he said, whose voice has been lifted in protest.

In a speech ringing with passion Senator Aldrich charged that the New York dry goods importers are in a conspiracy to defeat the pending schedule on cotton goods.

Senator Aldrich spoke for two and a half hours. The senate chamber at night resembled one of the social functions of the season. Most of the members came attired in evening dress. The galleries were packed with women in light, fluffy summer gowns and men in evening attire. Great crowds gathered outside the galleries watching for a chance to get in.

FINDS MANY TRUE BILLS

Grand Jury Indicts Officers of Nevada Mining Companies.

Goldfield, Nev., June 5.—Forty-six indictments were returned by the grand jury against officers of the Pittsburg-Silver Peak and Florence-Goldfield mining companies of this state, charging that false reports had been made by them to the state bullion tax collector in connection with the output of properties.

The names of those indicted were not made public and will be withheld until the persons named are served to appear.

A number of prominent men are connected with the companies. United States Senator Oliver of Pennsylvania and State Senator William Flynn of Pittsburg are connected with the Silver Peak mine, while A. D. Parker, vice president of the Colorado Southern railroad, and Thomas Lockhart, millionaire, of Reno, Nev., are interested in the Goldfield-Florence.

FOUND DEAD IN HER HOME

Believed St. Louis Woman Was Killed for Her Money.

St. Louis, June 5.—Mrs. Katherine Teal was found dead in her home here with her face hacked almost beyond recognition, skull fractured by a blow from a sharp instrument, finger marks and knife wounds on her throat and what is believed to be a bullet wound in her right side. Her body was found lying across a bed. The right hand clasped a knife, which the police believe was placed there by a murderer. It is thought she was killed for her money. She was last seen alive Thursday night. Her income came from renting out house-keeping apartments. She was forty-three years old and was considered wealthy.

OUTWITTED THE OFFICERS

Copper Company's Directors Evaded Subpoena Servers.

New York, June 5.—In an effort to subpoena the new directors of the United Copper company whom F. Augustus Heinze practically elected on Wednesday, a squad of United States marshals remained at the offices of the company nearly all day, believing there was to be a meeting. Late in the afternoon it was learned the directors had outwitted them and held a meeting elsewhere.

Other developments in the case included the appearance of Sanford Robinson, a former director, before the grand jury to clear himself of contempt of court with which he was threatened for refusing to reveal the whereabouts of missing books, the basis of all the present trouble. When Robinson came from the grand jury room it was understood that he had purged himself and United States District Attorney Wise professed confidence that he would soon be in possession of the books. What information Robinson gave could not be learned.

With the books in the hands of the federal authorities the investigation into the affairs of the Mercantile National bank, which failed during the panic of 1907, will be gone into and F. Augustus Heinze's transactions will be cleared up.

WOODEN STEAMER BURNED

Captain and His Crew of Nine Escape in a Small Boat.

Detroit, June 5.—The wooden steamer Iron Age, 226 feet long, burned to the water's edge ten miles southeast of Bar point in Lake Erie. Captain William J. Willoughby and his crew of nine escaped in a small boat, but lost all their personal effects. So quickly did the vessel burn that scarcely fifteen minutes elapsed between the discovery of the flames around the smokestack and the order for the crew to take to the small boat. Captain Willoughby and his crew were taken to Sandwich, Ont., by the steamer Warner.

The Iron Age, valued at $32,000 and insured for $5,000, was owned by her captain, W. J. Willoughby of Windsor, Ont., and her engineer, Richard Baxter, also of Windsor. All the members of the crew hailed from Windsor and vicinity. The vessel was engaged in carrying coal from Cleveland to Sandwich, for the Pittsburgh Coal company and was bound down light.

Poetry and Patriotism.
Zakris Topellus, "the most popular poet Finland has ever known," was a lover of his native land above all else. Once, says Paul Waineman in "A Summer Tour in Finland," he wrote as follows to a little Finnish boy who was at the time residing in England for his schooling:
"You are in a great and rich country, but never forget that you are only an exile. If Queen Victoria herself should write and offer you a post in her kingdom, remember that you must answer, 'I cannot, because I have a cottage waiting for me when I am grown up. It has a roof higher than the loftiest hall in Windsor castle. That roof is the blue sky of my own land.'"

The Scenic Highway Thro' the Land of Fortune

Increased Train Service

Effective May 23, 1909, the Northern Pacific Railway augmented its passenger train service by the establishment of new trains, not alone between eastern and western terminals, but locally on main lines and branches in the several states which it serves.

¶ It has thus placed in closer touch than ever the different sections, the various cities and towns, the thriving communities, which for twenty-six years the Northern Pacific has aided and fostered in growth and progress.

¶ This increased efficiency of service means much to the territory tributary to the Northern Pacific Railway.

¶ Additional lines projected or actually under construction will still further increase the scope of Northern Pacific co-operation in the development of the Northwest in the course of the next year or two.

¶ The present through service comprises

Four Daily Electric-lighted Transcontinental Trains

affording through equipment without change between Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Billings, Butte, Helena, Missoula, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Puget Sound.

Direct connections from and to Duluth and Superior. Ask for new time tables showing the increased service in detail.
